Discovered Great Gold Mine North of Toronto

Gold prospecting is among the world's romantic adventures, and there is no more thrilling story in its annals than that of the discovery of the great Hollinger mine, some 500 miles north of Toronto, in Canada. [illegible] years ago a young man, Ben Hollinger by name, was tramping through the low bush prospecting, when his eyes happened to alight upon an outcrop of rock in a desolate waste. He struggled over to it, and on examination found it contained gold. Today the Hollinger mine rivals the great mines of South Africa, and last year outstripped the greatest of them, the New Modderfontein, which had previously held the world's record for gold output. It covers 400 acres, and below its rugged surface run nearly 45 miles of tunnels and an electric railway system. The great mills roar day and night, and every month $7,000,000 in gold leaves the refinery. There are more than 2,000 men employed in the mine, mostly working underground, and they never see gold at all. They are surrounded by gold, yet all they see is the dirty gray rock being scooped up and taken to the refinery.

Gates Disproved Charge That He Was Careless

John W. Gates' first large scale of speculative venture, barbed wire, is what many would be plungers find on their Wall street raids Late in the last century Gates was the main backer of two steel companies, Federal Steel and American Steel and Wire, with a total capitalization of nearly $200,000,000

These organizations were merged with the United States Steel corporation, but Gates was refused a place with the new combination. He was told his business methods were careless, whereupon he founded the Republic Iron and Steel company, which became a thorn in the side of the United States Steel company.

When Gates died in 1911 he left a fortune of nearly $20,000,000, which disproved allegations of ship shop methods and the assertion that all plungers eventually are wiped out and become objects of charity.—New York Times.

Old but Good

A young lady sat next to a distinguished bishop at a church dinner She was rather awed by the bishop's presence. For some time she hesitated to speak to him. Finally, seeing some bananas passed, she seized the opportunity to start conversation with him and said:

"I beg your pardon, but are you fond of bananas?"

The bishop was slightly deaf, and leaning toward her, replied:

"Pardon me, but what did you say?"

"I said,' repeated the young lady, blushing furiously, "do you like bananas?"

The bishop pondered the question gravely for a moment, and then answered: "It is a curious question, but if you wish my honest opinion, I have always preferred the old-fashioned night shirt."—Harper's Weekly.

His Own Opinion

Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge leaned over his ricketv fence and nonchalantly contemplated a covered wagon which was being snailed along the big road by a yoke of oxen

"Howdy!" he saluted when the equipage finally arrived in front of his residence. "Whur are you going to?"

"Well, I'll tell you," responded the venerable man who walked beside the oxen. "I loaded up my family and one thing and another a spell ago, aiming to go to Oklahoma, as it were. But I've had to turn out'n the road and stop so often to let automobiles, wagons and so forth go by, and then prob'ly got stuck in the mud and had a dickens of a time in dragging out and getting started ag'in, that, all things considered, I don't reckon I'm going no place."—Kansas City Star.

Careless Taxi Driver

A taxi was standing at a cabstand with the front of the cab almost on the crossing The driver was sitting on the seat waiting patiently for a fare. He had been waiting two hours A man was crossing the road deep in meditation, when he suddenly caught sight of the cab. He jumped, glared at the driver for a moment, and then exclaimed. "Why don't you blow your horn?'—The Tattler

Thenics in Danger

Little Boy—I'm not going to school today, 'cause we've got to work too hard.

Mother—What have you got to do?

Little Boy—I don't know, but teacher said that we'd have calousedd thenics after today's classes.—The Wasp.

Modern Inventions

Timothy—Maria! Maria! Open the door.

Al Falfa—Kind o' deaf, ain't she?

Tim—No, she ain't deaf, but tryin' to listen to the phonograph an' the telephone an' the wireless, an' havin' only two ears it's hard sometimes to get her attention.

No Waste Involved

"When a man says he has thrown his hat in the ring he merely uses a figure of speech."

"Of course," answered Senator Sorghum. "Many a political tile-tosser wouldn't be so reckless if he had to use a genuine hat."—Washington Star.

Mysterious Bottle.

French scientists have found something to puzzle over in a mysterious bottle that is owned by a French farmer, and that is said to be an infallible weather forecaster. The bottle has been handed down from generation to generation, and is filled with what appears to be a red sand and a yellow liquid. So famed has the bottle become and so reliable that it is said farmers in the vicinity invariably consult it before starting to harvest their crops. Solid particles gather in clusters when rain is coming, and white flakes appear before the snow. The entire mixture becomes cloudy when a hailstorm is coming.

Arms and the Woman.

We are opposed to the arms of women. Arms fat and arms thin. Arms tattooed with vaccination marks. Goosy-fleshed arms. Flabby arms. With whiskers. Stringy, veiny arms. Arms with burns and bruises and birthmarks. Arms like rocks at low tide. Arms like bolsters. Or Braunschweigerleberwursts. Arms horribly suggestive of sirloins. Old arms. Terrible, terrible old arms. Arms with skin you don't want to touch. Or even look at. When and whence this rebellion, this frenzy for freedom—this short-skirted freedom of the knees, this relentless unsheathing of arms? —Zoe Beckley in McNaught's Monthly.

Water Power From Glaciers.

Recent investigations of the water-power resources of streams in the basin of Colorado river by the Department of the Interior have shown glacial lakes on the west slope of the Wind river range near the continental divide have a combined storage capacity of more than half a million acre-feet of water and may be utilized as reservoirs for use in irrigation or in generating power. Ten power sites are found which range in capacity from 120 horsepower with the natural flood of the river to 2,500 horsepower with regulated stream flow.

Dairymaids Are Scientists.

The modern dairymaid, the girl student from the agricultural college or domestic science school, is verily a scientist. She is a bacteriologist and a specialist in the art of bottling milk and churning butter. With her scientific knowledge as to why churned cream makes butter, what temperatures are best and when to dash the churn inside with cold water or brine she can literally give her old-fashioned country sister "cards and spades" when it comes to taking full charge of a dairy.

Whistling Pigeons of China.

Small, light whistles attached by means of fine copper wire to the tails of young pigeons by the Chinese, produce a strange series of musical notes as the birds fly, the rushing air making the whistles sound Care is taken to have the whistle carried by each flock or different pitch, but capable of blending harmoniously, so that the effect of the birds' concerts may be pleasing to the ear. The birds don't mind carrying the whistles; on the contrary, they often seem proud of them.

Even Tin Freezes in Russia.

In northern Russia all sorts of utensils are apt to become useless in winter time, and even tin "catches cold" A tiny grayish spot makes its appearance on the surface of the tin. It grows in size and then others appear. In course of time the metal crumbles into a dark-colored powder. Some years ago a whole shipload of blocks of tin, stored in the customs house of Petrograd during the winter was found the following spring to have crumbled into dust.

The Spectrum.

A ray of sunlight, shining through a prism and separated into the succession of colors called the spectrum, is only visible in part to human vision Below the red at one end and above the violet at the other, as we all know, are colors which are invisible to us, and whose quality we cannot conceive We know, however, that they are appreciated by the eyes of some insects.

Rare Book.

The first printed book on bookkeeping was published in Venice in 1494 The author was Luca Pacioli, an Italian monk, who wrote it in Latin and Italian, originating many of the algebraic signs now in use, such as plus and minus. The precious volume has recently been presented to the University of California.

Say Stars Presage Fate.

Breton seamen have great belief in the stars, and disconsolate indeed is he who sees in the heavens at night just one star. It is to him "the lone star" presaging his passing on. The Persians have a belief that the stars are the ghosts of men and the Australian bushmen have a saying that "Good men become stars," which is akin to the Teutonic saying that "Stars are souls, and when a child dies God makes a new star."

A Reason.

Mother—"If you wanted to go fishing, why didn't you come and ask me first?" Johnny—"Because I wanted to go fishing."—New Haven Register.

Friendship.

Friendship throws a greater luster on prosperity, while it lightens adversity by sharing in its gifts and anxieties.

Mankind's Fate.

There is nothing specially deplorable in any individual having to meet the fate which is common to mankind.

Mask Guards Painter From Lead Poisoning

Lead poisoning has long been the bugbear of painters. While working with paint having a high lead content the inhalation of the paint odors has been known to produce dangerous attacks of the well-known "painters' colic," while contact of lead paint with the skin, particularly where it is cut or abraded, often results in irritating diseases.

To combat these conditions a special gas mask or respirator has been devised. This is not so cumbersome as the conventional type, merely serving as a filter against the lead fumes and not covering the whole face. It straps around the back of the head, covering the nose and mouth, but not the eyes, thus affording free vision.

Worn in combination with rubber gloves for protecting the hands, the new respirator affords ample protection against the possibility of contracting disease, no matter what may be the lead content of the paint used.—New York World.

Human Decoy Used to Lure Wolf in Russia

The Russian hunter's method of killing wolves is interesting. A great hefty peasant, with yellow hair, snub nose, red face and shining blue eyes brought an identical wolf's skin to the once, and I asked him how he had obtained it. He was standing at the window of his izba one late afternoon he said, when he saw a wolf walking through the village street He seized his gun, called a friend, and they went in pursuit. The wolf stopped on the top of a hill outside the village and looked at them to prevent it from running away, the second man went down on all fours and moved toward the wolf. He looked, in his heavy sheepskin shuba, for all the world like an animal, and the wolf ran back to attack him When it had come to a convenient distance the hunter shot it —Francesca M Wilson, in Manchester Guardian.

Strange, Strange!

This is veracious: A clergyman from Cambridge, Mass., had occasion to preach to the inmates of an insane hospital. During his sermon he noticed that one of the patients paid the closest attention, his eyes riveted upon the preacher's face, his body bent eagerly forward Such interest was most flattering. After the service, the speaker noticed that the man spoke to the superintendent, so as soon as possible the preacher inquired:

"Didn't that man speak to you about my sermon?"

"Yes."

"Would you mind telling me what he said?"

The superintendent tried to sidestep, but the preacher insisted

"Well," he said at last "what the man said was, 'Just think, he's out and I'm in'"—The Christian Register (Boston).

Runs Submerged

An inexpensive undershot power wheel which will run even when wholly submerged and which is especially adapted for use in mountain streams was invented some time ago by a Salt Lake man. The wheel's source of power lies in the fact that the blades fold on the upward stroke, making the leverage greater at all times on those below than above the center shaft and thereby enabling it to run in water of any depth The wheel, which is made entirely of metal may be of any diameter and width

To prevent clogging with floating weeds or debris the wheel is inclosed in a heavy mesh wire screen so connected to the wheel that it revolves in the opposite direction

Set an Egg—Ample

A boastful traveler was in the village inn, trying to "kid the hicks"

"Speaking of chickens," he said, "reminds me of an old hen my father used to have on his farm She'd hatch anything from a tennis ball to a lemon Why, one day she sat on a chunk of ice and hatched out a pint of hot water'"

"That don't come up to a hen my mother had," remarked one of his hearers. "They fed her on sawdust once, by mistake Well, she laid ten eggs, and sat on 'em, and when they were hatched, nine of them had wooden legs, and t'other chicken was a woodpecker'"—American Boy

Diffused Concentration

An enthusiastic young admirer said to Arnold Bennett shortly after one of his more thoughtful books was published: "You have been a wonderful help to me, Mr Bennett."

"Indeed! In what way may I ask?

"Oh, that last book of yours' It has taught me to concentrate"

"To concentrate? Well, well, that's nice. Now tell me, what are you concentrating on?"

"Oh, lots and lots of things," was the reply—Boston Transcript.

Now We Know

Uncle Lije Cheek one day was asked whether Sam Black was honest or not.

"Well, if, and, but, though," he answered, "he might be, and, then agin he mign't; but, if he be, he is very highly spoken ag'inst."

Then, Finally.

You see a beautiful girl walking down the street. She is, of course, feminine. If she is singular, you become nominative. You walk across to her, changing the verbal and then becoming dative If she is not objective, you become plural. You walk home together. Her mother is accusative, and you become imperative. Her brother is an indefinite article. You walk in and sit down. You talk of the future, and she changes to the object. Her father becomes present and you become the past participle.—Ohio Northern Review.

Temperature in the Earth.

Scientists used to think that temperature increased at a fairly regular rate with descent into the earth's crust, and they figured that a temperature would soon be reached where every known substance would be melted. Recent facts have upset this theory. For instance, in a South African mine the temperature at 8,000 feet is only 102 degrees, while in the Kalgoorlie mines of Australia practically no variation of temperature is shown between 1,400 and 2,300 feet. The old earth may be solid, after all—The National Geographic Magazine.

Woman Posting a Letter.

Femininity has its own way of posting a simple, everyday letter, according to one keen observer. For [illegible] watched at a street letter box in the residential section of a large city, 21 withdrew the letter before quite letting go of it, to scan both sides of the envelope, to be certain the letter was securely sealed, properly addressed, stamped and to make sure nobody could look through the envelope to read the contents.

Monongahela Italians In Toils—Thought They Are Connected With the West Homestead Affair At Noon on March 25—Arrests Made Last Night

Four Monongahela Italians have been arrested within 24 hours by Allegheny county detectives on a charge of conspiracy in connection with the attempted holdup of a Pennsylvania passenger train which was carrying a $400,000 payroll of the Carnegie Steel company at West Homestead at noon on March 25. The men arrested are Joe Russo, Russell Revetta, Andrew Lucas and Thomas Caruso. A fifth man is being sought

Caruso may be freed of any connection with the case as a Monongahela man for whom he was employed will offer an alibi for Caruso. He says on the day of the attempted holdup Caruso worked for him during the day.

Louis Burchianti, of Millsboro and Fredericktown, who was arrested in connection with the holdup on the day it was to have taken place and who is now being held to answer a charge of murder and highway robbery in Lancaster county, is reported to have revealed the names of his colleagues in the attempted robbery.

Sergeant Mauk of the state police and County Detectives Black, Goldberg and Barker made the arrests at Monongahela late last night and this morning. The officers fearing interference in their plans from influential friends of Russo and Revetta, took the two men to Pittsburgh and lodged them in the county jail. They will be held until a further investigation is made.

Informations in which the above men were charged with conspiracy were made out against them before Alderman Anderson of Monongahela. The Monongahela men when arrested offered alibis to the arresting officers.

Three Cows Perish In A Barn Fire

Wednesday night three cows perished and a large barn was destroyed by fire at the Taylor farm occupied by Reese Coleman, near Manown.

The interior was in flames before occupants of the Coleman household were roused by the flames and smoke from the burning structure. Farm machinery valued at $50 was destroyed together with a quantity of seed and planting materials. Efforts were made to rescue the three cows which were in the barn but they were lost. A nearby milk shed was saved by the organization of a bucket brigade among members of the Coleman household. An investigation will likely be made to determine the exact cause of the fire. Coleman stated that he had no fire in the barn and thought that some one had entered the barn and either intentionally or accidentally caused the blaze. The loss will be about $2,200 with some insurance on the barn.

VanVoorhis, retiring president. The meeting was [illegible] reports, which evidenced a most successful and interesting year. Mrs. Van Voorhis formally retired from office with a few closing remarks.

The business session dispensed with, the balance of the afternoon was spent in a social way. The absentees, those who had been absent at various times during the year, entertained with an old-fashioned last day of school. This was immensely enjoyed and those taking part were as follows: Mrs. V. P. Stewart, Mrs. C. C. Wright, Mrs. J. W. Ferman, Mrs. L. J. Mitchell, Mrs. E. H. Greenlee, Mrs. T. M. Faddis, Mrs. D. E. Miss Ethel Barth and Mrs. Emma Showers delighted their audience with a number of vocal solos, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Bethel Jacobs. The serving of dainty refreshments concluded the afternoon.

Next year's program beginning in October will be a continuance of the study, "The America's," which has proved so profitable and interesting during the past year.

BURNS ARE FATAL TO A LITTLE GIRL

Mother, Trying to Squelch the Flames, Is Burned So Severely That Her Condition Is Critical — Child Dies In Hospital

OCCURRED IN MONESSEN

Child Is Playing About a Bonfire, Adjoining the Home — Burning Clothing of Child Ignites to Flimsy Material, Setting House On Fire

As a result of burns received yesterday afternoon at 1:10 o'clock, Helen Abraham, aged 4 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Abraham of 317 Fourteenth street, Monessen, died last night at 9:30 o'clock in the Memorial hospital, Monongahela, while the child's mother is critically ill at her home suffering from burns about the hands and arms and is in a nervous collapse.

The child's clothing ignited when she was playing about a bonfire in a yard adjoining the Abraham home. Her clothing ablaze, she ran into the kitchen of her home screaming. Mrs. Abraham, hearing the screams of her daughter, rushed to her assistance and frantically tore the burning clothing from the child, and in doing so was severely burned about the hands and arms. The burning clothing, thrown on the floor, ignited some flimsy material lying about and the flames soon spread to the walls. The fire department was called, but neighbors hearing the screams of Mrs. Abraham and her daughter rushed to the scene and with buckets of water extinguished the flames. A physician was called, who rendered first aid, and sent the young victim to the Memorial hospital, where she succumbed from the burns, which covered her entire body. The mother is in a critical condition.

Funeral services for Helen will take place tomorrow afternoon with interment in the Grandview cemetery.

Just after Saylor crossed the second of the bridges, a wheel came off the truck and he lost control of the machine, which veered over the bank into the creek. Both Saylor and Durbin were thrown out. The latter named suffered a dislocated left shoulder, and Saylor severe cuts and bruises. The truck was badly damaged. Passing autoists brought Saylor and Durbin back to town, where their injuries were treated.

SHOOTING OF DAN M'GREW

Today and Saturday, the Coyle theatre promises to be more than ordinarily filled through virtue of the production of the films, "The Shooting of Dan McGrew," and if the film version is one-half as meritorious as is the book, the story will interest and entrance the auditor from start to finish.

The story is entwined with incidents of how a wife meets a slick gambler, Dan McGrew, who by species promises, lures her to New York, where she meets success as an entertainer in a fashionable cabaret, and then sends for her husband and son. The denouncement comes at the end when the husband, wife and child are reunited after Jim Elliott, husband of the woman, shoots and kills McGrew.

The piece shows New York and the ice fields of Alaska, and is a thriller. One of the best pictures ever shown by Manager Coyle at his popular theatre.

AIR MAN GETS TO BUCHAREST IN SAFE MANNER

Paris, April 25—(United Press)—Lieutenant Pelletier d'Oisy, who flew a French military airplane from Villa Coublay airdome here at dawn yesterday, successfully completed a non-stop flight to Bucharest, it was officially admitted today.

The flight is the first leg of a series of 1,400 mile jumps destined to take the airplane to Japan in world's record time and demonstrate France's supremacy in the air.

The air ministry, which now confirms exclusive United Press dispatches regarding what was to have been a secret long distance flight attempt, reports that Lieut. d'Oisy came down at Bucharest at 5 p. m. yesterday, having made the flight to the Rumanian capital, a distance of more than 1,800 miles, in a little over 11 hours.

It was the first Paris-Bucharest non-stop flight. When over Bavaria, the airman encountered the first rainstorms, but weathered them.

On his way to Japan, d'Oisy plans to make only the briefest of halts. He will attempt to sleep while flying, having his mechanic pilot the machine.

Number Of Changes In Schedule Of Pennsylvania Railroad

A number of changes will become effective Sunday, April 27, on the Pennsylvania railroad to conform with the daylight saving time plan and to comply with a request made recently by representatives of the Charleroi Chamber of Commerce. A change was particularly asked in the schedule of the south-bound trains for the convenience of the up-river town residents. Folks from that district coming to Charleroi to shop and to visit were obliged to return to their home on the 6:59 train or remain until 1:15 and take the "bummer." However, this matter has been adjusted somewhat and the train that formerly went at 6:59 will go at 10:04 beginning Sunday.

The following is the schedule of the old and new trains:

Harrisburg, April 25. — (United Press)—A $50,000,000 bonus for Pennsylvania ex-service men can be submitted to the voters next fall without affecting in any manner the $100,000,000 road bond provided by the previous constitutional amendment, Attorney General Woodruff set forth in a brief statement today in the Dauphin County courts.

DESERTION AND NON-SUPPORT CASES

Desertion and non-support cases were heard in court yesterday. Judge J. Boyd Crumrine of the Orphans court, by assignment from the court of common pleas, is sitting for Judge Cummins. Robert Huber, of California, was directed by Judge Crumrine to pay the costs and to pay for the support of his family $1 a week. His bond for the faithful compliance with the order was fixed at $300.

Artur W. Brunges, a colored barber of Monongahela, was ordered, after a hearing before Judge James I. Brownsin, to pay through the probation officer the costs of the case and $2.50 a week for the support of his wife, Mrs. Missouri Brunges.

Arthur L. Hilton and his wife, Mrs. Flora Hilton, both of Monongahela, on advice of Judge Brownson decided to try to patch up their troubles and to live together again. The court costs were placed on the county.

Homer Biers, of McDonald, was directed to pay his wife, Dollie Beers, for her support and her two minor children. He was not in court and his cash bail of $200 was declared forfeited.

OHIO SLEUTHS FAIL TO IDENTIFY TWO BANDITS

Pittsburgh, April 25—(United Press)—Detectives from Mount Pleasant, Ohio, who arrived here early today failed to identify two prisoners in Allegheny county jail as members of a group of five bandits who robbed Mount Pleasant bank of $20,000 and murdered a cashier last February.

The men held in jail here gave names of James Colozza, 27, and Annencio Panicci, 33. They were arrested after an investigation of the ownership of an automible which they drove here bearing an Ohio license.

Descriptions of men held and the fugitives sought by Ohio authorities are very similar, but Mount Pleasant detectives would make no identification until another officer better informed on the details of the crime arrived to inspect the prisoners.

BURGESS J. B. TUSSING HAS A BUSY NIGHT

Burgess J. Bryant Tussing had a busy night last evening. Five men who were arrested charged with fighting and being disorderly at Fifth street and McKean avenue, were fined $2 and costs each.

Julian Jilianna, the miner, who was found asleep in a box car by Chief of Police James A. Murphy and Officer Jack Thomas, was fined $1 and costs.

Five drunks, who, it is said, were also disorderly, at the Water tank, forfeited their forfeits.

George S. Klov, a junk dealer, was fined $5 and costs for operating his business minus a license, and required to secure the same before he can further do business.

Harry Collins, an alleged "panhandler" was discharged, after being reprimanded.

The seven owners of red-tagged machines were discharged after being given a lecture and told of the requirements of parking—the right side of the streets and the distance from a fire plug.

"Jimmy" Yon, a Chinaman, who lives between Sixth and Seventh streets, in McKean avenue, was fined for burning paper and garbage in the street in the rear of his property, $1 and costs.

Two men who were fighting in Fallowfield avenue on Tuesday had their hearings continued for the reason that one of the belligerents is ill.

J. W. Latchem, a prominent business man of Charleroi, was fined $25 and costs for allowing his son to operate an automobile minus a license, by Burgess J. Bryant Tussing last night.

At the time the son of Mr. Latchem was operating the car, an accident occurred, in which he was injured, but not badly, but another youth was hurt so seriously that he was taken to the Charleroi-Monessen hospital for treatment.

Delicate Gown Made for Empress Eugenie

It is said that the most perishable thing ever made was the gown of Empress Eugenie designed for her to wear at a ball given at the Tuileries upon her return from the opening of the Suez canal.

The ultimate in dress was made under the personal direction of the empress. Four women labored steadily for six months embroidering the flounces. It took two months to manufacture the gauze. The cloth was woven on machinery especially constructed and was the only kind of this material ever fashioned. The threads were so fine that the weavers were obliged to wear powerful magnifying glasses.

The dress was an ivory white. It was made with 15 skirts one upon the other. Thirty-five yards of gauze were required for each and the effect was a diaphanous mist. A thousand yards of material was used, 237 yards being required for each of the two overskirts. The flounces resembled cobwebs, and delicate embroidery marked the low-cut waist. So fine was the material that the two overskirts could be drawn through a bracelet, and two of the underskirts through a finger ring.—Detroit News.

Keene Won and Lost Millions of Dollars

It is to be questioned whether his tying up with Jay Gould or the $400,000 he wagered that William Jennings Bryan would be elected in 1896 was James R. Keene's greatest error of judgment. To his then associate, Gould, Keene attributed his losses in Western Union and wheat in the late '70s.

For all of his speculations over 50 years, Keene, when he died, in 1913, left but $2,000,000, and he scored more failures in his operations than successes. After his experience with Jay Gould, other reverses followed and Keene was a bankrupt in 1884. By 1892 he was on his feet again, through his manipulations for the whisky combination and American Sugar Refining company.

Later in the same decade, he won and lost and won again on Brooklyn Rapid Transit, only to drop $2,000,000 in Third avenue railway speculations. At the time of the flotation of United States steel he hit the ceiling, only to fall to the floor shortly after with the collapse of Southern Pacific.—New York Times.

Home of Pineapple

The pineapple is of American origin, growing wild in Brazil and Mexico. It has been known since the Sixteenth century and was first cultivated solely for royalty in the gardens of their private grounds. Brazil still possesses the best and most appreciated varieties, although in other countries much work has been done to develop a better pineapple.

It is claimed that the flavor and evenness of pulp of the Brazilian pineapples have not been equaled. The season in Brazil comes in December and it has been a source of wonder to tourists arriving in Brazil during the pineapple season why some one has not undertaken to make shipments to the United States, where there should be a splendid market for them, arriving in midwinter.

Mary Lost Her Tip

A newly appointed judge of the Supreme court, who felt pretty well satisfied with himself, was dining at a hotel and he said to the Irish waitress, "Mary, how long have you been in this country?"

"Two years, sir."

"Do you like it?"

"Sure, it's well enough," she answered.

"But, Mary," he continued, "you have many privileges in this country which you'd not have in Ireland. Now at home you'd never be in a room with a justice of the Supreme court and chatting familiarly with him."

"But, sure, sir," said the girl, quite in earnest, "ye'd never be a judge at home."—Boston Transcript.

Had Forgotten

A Hot Springs girl recently ran across a lot of love letters written many years ago, by her mother to her father before they were married. The daughter pretended that the letters were of recent date, and read them to her mother, who was disgusted beyond measure, saying it was surprising that such silly persons were permitted to live. "I thank goodness," she said, "that when I was a girl, I had some sense."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Both Wrong

Two travelers were seated in a train going to Chicago. As the train drew up at a station one of the travelers opened the window, and, drawing a deep draught of fresh air, turned to his companion and exclaimed:

"Isn't this salubrious?"

"Yes," replied his friend, "I think it is exhilarating."

"Beg pardon," chimed in the conductor, "ye're both wrong; it's Kalamazoo."

Kittenish

"Those firemen must be a frivolous set," commented Mrs. Dumpling.

"Why?" asked her overworked half.

"I read in the paper that after the blaze was under control, firemen played all night on the ruins. Why didn't they go to bed like sensible folks instead of romping around like cats?"

Curious Weather Forecaster.

French scientists have found something to puzzle over in a mysterious bottle that is owned by a French farmer, and that is said to be an infallible weather forecaster. The bottle has been handed down from generation to generation, and is filled with what appears to be red sand and a yellow liquid. So famed has the bottle become and so reliable, that it is said farmers in the vicinity invariably consult it before planting their crops. Solid particles gather in clusters when rain is coming, and white flakes appear before the snow. The entire mixture becomes cloudy when a hail storm is coming.

Yes, Rather.

Two fashionable women were recently calling on a new neighbor, and while awaiting her appearance, a little girl came into the room, evidently bent upon the rescue of a doll recently abandoned there. Naturally she was viewed with some curiosity, and one of the callers, secure in the child's obviously tender age, spelled a low-voiced comment: "Not very p-r-e-t-t-y." To her horror, the small maiden paused on the threshold, and, fixing a contemptuous eye upon the culprit, remarked with lofty composure: "No, not very p-r-e-t-t-y but rather s-m-a-r-t!"

Three Pots of Kobangs.

The Maruhachi family of Tokyo, who operated a drug house of old established fame, had received and transmitted from generation to generation a sealed instrument, with instructions that it should be opened only if the family house fell into straitened circumstances. The packet was rescued during the earthquake and it was found to contain instructions to dig at a certain place. Three earthenware pots of kobangs—oval-shaped gold coins of feudal days—were found, valued at several hundred thousand yen.

Natural Levees.

A levee is an embankment which keeps a river in its channel. A river like the Mississippi carries a great amount of sediment from its swift headstreams to the lower ground. When its velocity is checked, it drops a portion of this sediment, gradually raising the bed of the stream above the surrounding country. In flood time, the river overflows its banks, depositing sediment along the land side of the banks. This creates a long alluvial ridge, which is called a natural levee.

Insects and Fish Give Shocks.

None of the mammals, birds, or reptiles have the power to discharge electrical current, but there are several species of insects and fish thus endowed. The electric eel is one of the best known of the "living batteries." It inhabits the lakes and rivers of Brazil and the Guianas. It sometimes attains a length of eight feet with a girth equal to that of a man's thigh. The electric organs are situated in the tail and are composed of numerous cells containing jellylike substances.

The Rhapsodists.

The Rhapodists were a class of men in ancient Greece, who wandered from place to place and recited the productions of Homer, Hesiod and other poets. They were held in high esteem, and to them, doubtless, is due the credit for the wide diffusion of the Homeric poems in the ancient Greek world. After these ballads were collected and reduced to connected epics by Pisistratus (612 (?)-527 B. C.), the importance of the Rhapsodists gradually declined.

The Whale-Shark.

The whale-shark species of fish is found in various parts of the world, particularly in the Indian ocean. Several specimens have been caught off the Florida coast. On June 1, 1912, Capt. Charles H. Thompson caught one there 38 feet long and 18 feet in girth. It was not placed on scales, but its weight was estimated to have been between 10,000 and 30,000 pounds. The "whale-shark" is harmless to man, and feeds only upon very minute animal life.

Many Crops of Leaves.

Evergreen trees differ from deciduous trees, which shed all their leaves annually, in that the leaves of evergreen trees last for a full year or more. This means, says Nature Magazine of Washington, that one crop of leaves can always be found on an evergreen tree and sometimes as many as five or even ten annual leaf crops at one time.

Not Large, but—

A rather awkward-looking individual went into an ice cream parlor the other day and bought an ice cream cone. He went out on the sidewalk to eat it. Presently he reappeared with the cone emptied of the cream, and, handing it to the astonished clerk, said: "Thank you for the vase."

Tennyson's Visit to Paris

In the letters and memoirs of Sir William Hardman just published under the title of "A Mid-Victorian Pepys," there is a delightful story of an adventure of Tennyson in Paris. Tennyson could not speak French and his brother spoke it very badly. The story alleges that his brother, when going out, said to the waiter: "Prenez garde de na pas laisser sortir le feu" (take care not to let the fire go out), pronouncing feu (meaning fire), like fou (meaning fool). When Tennyson himself came downstairs to go out for a walk the waiter barred his way, and when Tennyson stormed he called the other waiters, being confirmed in his opinion of the poet's insanity by Tennyson's eccentricities.

Fact About the Moon.

The popular impression that the full moon has the power to clear away clouds disappears slowly, notwithstanding the almost unanimous pronouncement of scientists against it. That may be largely due to the fact that so great an authority in his day as Sir John Herschel regarded the idea as probably correct. After a study of the Greenwich observations it was suggested that the impression may be due to the fact that a change from the cloudy to the clear state is much more likely to attract attention when there is a full moon in the sky, and many meteorologists agree with this.

Treasure of the Earth.

"It matters not on what plane of life one labors, nor how large or small the number of his acquaintances, the man who toils, and yet knows that in the circle of his influence there is at least one life in which there is sunshine where, but for him, there would have been shadow; that there is at least one home in which there is cheer where, but for him, there would have been gloom; that there is at least one heart in which there is hope where, but for him, there would have been despair—that man carries with him, as he goes, one of the richest treasures on this earth."

English Royal Coach at $38,000.

The English royal state coach, which is still in use on ceremonial occasions, is a magnificent vehicle of its kind, and, according to Horace Walpole, cost nearly $38,000, says the Detroit News. The use of coaches is a comparatively recent innovation, for as late as the reign of Queen Elizabeth the English royal family had to be content with a wagon, which was a sort of cart without springs, the body resting solidly on the axle. Before the invention of the coach the most aristocratic ladies were accustomed to ride on pillions fixed on the horse, usually behind some relative or servant.

Oil From Penguins.

The Island of Macquarie lies about half way between the southern coast of Australia and the Antarctic continent. It is uninhabited, but serves as a breeding ground for millions of penguins. Recently it is reported the government of Australia has leased the island to a company which has gone into the business of manufacturing penguin oil, which is produced by digesting the bodies of the birds in huge cauldrons or boilers, in which the pressure of steam is kept at about twenty pounds. The oil is thus brought to the surface and drawn off.

Saracens Produced Sarcenet.

The survivors of the Spanish Saracens were beaten back across the Mediterranean by Ferdinand and Isabella, but they left the sarcenet industry behind them. Their racial designation remained firmly fixed as a trademark to the cloth. The Saracen rule was a wondrous civilization, says the Detroit News. Among the articles of luxury they produced was the kind of thin silk cloth which the French manufacturers quickly adopted. From France the Huguenot weavers took the process of sarcenet making to England.

Self-Closing Windows Wanted.

Fortunes await those who supply the idea for a few of the inventions that are needed for everyday use. Among the inventions recently suggested by a scientific writer are: A window that will close itself when it starts raining, snowing or blowing; a sugar dispenser for restaurants to replace the old-fashioned sugar bowl; an icewater glass that will cool the water without allowing the ice to get in contact with it, and a salt shaker that will keep salt dry and shakable in wet weather.

First Use of Gas.

The first use of gas as an illuminant was in the dwelling house of a Mr. Murdoch in Redruth, Cornwall, England, 130 years ago. Murdoch carried on his investigations privately for several years and in 1798 he fitted up an apparatus for lighting part of the manufacturing establishments of Boulton and Watt, near Birmingham. In 1805 Murdoch built a large plant for lighting a Manchester factory, which was very successful and stimulated other efforts in that line.

DeMarco Outboxes Kid Kaplan But Referee Calls The Fight A Draw

Waterbury, Conn., April 24—Cuddy DeMarco won his way in the hearts of 5,000 fistic fans here tonight when he decisively defeated Kid Kaplan of Meriden, Conn., taking nine of the 12 rounds of the star bout, but Referee Kid MacAuliffe of Bridgeport, Conn., gave the bout a draw and it was only through the assistance of the police that he was able to leave the ring without being molested. Red Mason manager of Cuddy, in an interview with local writers following the bout said that Referee MacAuliffe came to Cuddy's corner in the tenth round and told him that he must win the other two rounds to win. The majority of the fans and all the newspapermen awarded the eleventh and twelfth rounds to the Pittsburgh battler and the decision was the most unpopular ever handed out at a boxing bout in the Nutmeg state.

The first round proved to be a tame affair. Both boys exchanging several short jobs. Kaplan with his usual style of play of getting the other boxer worried in the opening round met a surprise when Cuddy returned him his own medicine. Kaplan came out in the middle of the fourth round when D Marco sent a volley of rapid blows to his nose and face. He was in bad condition for the first time in his many appearances in this city, while the youngster, Cuddy, smiled at the newspapermen at the close of the round. He missed when he attempted to send a right to DeMarco's jaw. He missed continually and DeMarco with the smile of confidence tapped him at his will. Kaplan became excited near the close of the round when he missed a hard right to the stomach and the crowd readily saw that he was in for a boxing lesson from the Pittsburg youngster.

"Red" Mason put more confidence into Cuddy between the second and third rounds and the youngster stood waiting for the bell to start the third canto. Kaplan again failed to land his usual telling blows and Cuddy made his wild swings count by sending several hard rights to his stomach.

Using Elbow Grease

When I was a small gal, set to a task uncommonly hard for me, my mother used to say: "Use plenty of elbow grease, daughter, and you can do it." How many times since I have had a home of my own that phrase has come to my mind. It has almost become religious in its nature. It means courage, a renewal of effort, a strengthening, a resolve to try again. I think I was what King Lemuel's mother meant, in the last chapter of Proverbs, "She—strengtheneth her arms". "Elbow grease"—what a homely old phrase it is and how necessary that a mother have it. She may not be particularly smart or handsome, but she's got to know how to work. A sufficient amount of elbow grease will, in a pinch, make up for lack of money, or opportunity, or education—even for a lack of the family. The word means something to my little mother. I never knew anybody that could work harder or more cheerfully.—Margaret W. Jackson, in Farm Life.

PIRATES LOSE OPENING GAME TO CINCINNATI BY CLOSE SCORE OF 5-4

In the presence of 28,000 people, on a day that was made for the occasion the Pittsburgh Pirates dropped the opening game of the season at Forbes field by a score of 5-4. Both clubs played mid-season baseball, neither side making an error, though the Reds hit the ball harder and more consecutively than did the Pirates. Pittsburgh made a great ninth inning rally, scoring two runs, and holding the spectators in breathless suspense, but were unable to put over the run that would tie the score or prove the winning factor. The contest was attended by Charleroi fans, and a number from this section.

It's a bit tough to lose the opening day game before such a monster crowd, but when you get down to brass tacks it was the great pitching of Pete Donohue that turned the trick, and strange to relate he did not appear to have a thing as he was "warming up" before the game.

Donahue employed a slow, puzzling curve with deadly effect and his control was perfect. Until the ninth inning he always retired the first man to face him, and this is always a great help. He did not issue a base on balls throughout and invariably had the batter in a hole.

Skipper McKechnie pursued the policy of having his men wait the pitcher out, instead of ordering them to take a crack at the good ones.

The Pirates hit only in spots, the Reds drove the ball safe in every inning except the fifth when a lightning double play marred Meadows' otherwise a rough spot.

DEMOCRATS SAY SCHEDULE TO WIN

BAFFLED IN THE HUNT FOR A WOMAN ATTORNEY

Chicago, April 25.—(United Press).—Although temporarily baffled in their hunt for Mrs. Wanda Stopa, beautiful young attorney and former assistant district attorney of Chicago, charged with murder, police today said they were confident of taking her into custody today or tomorrow.

Y. Kenley Smith, 40, handsome and wealthy advertising man of Chicago, reiterated his story that he was the "intellectual friend" of the woman, although he admitted sending her to Detroit and paying her $150 a month.

Mrs. Stopa yesterday shot and killed Henry Manning, aged caretaker at the Palos Park suburban home of Smith and his wife, Viva Dawley Smith. She also fired two shots at Mrs. Smith but both went wild. Manning was shot when he attempted to eject Mrs. Stopa from the Smith home. Mrs. Stopa wanted to kill Mrs. Smith to get her out of the way so that she could marry Smith, with whom she was infatuated.

A man said to be Vladimir Glascow, husband of the slayer, drove the car in which the woman escaped, Mrs. Smith told police.

When last seen the car was speeding toward Chicago.

Mrs. Smith told the police that she knew of the woman's infatuation for her husband.

"She wanted me to divorce him so she could marry him," Mrs. Smith told police. "My husband did not want to marry her. He was her friend, and he was sorry for her because she was married to a man who was making her unhappy."

The money that Smith advanced and the other attentions showered on the woman were due to his admiration for her intellect, ambition and enthusiasm to make her mark as a brilliant lawyer, Mrs. Smith said.

Mrs. Stopa proclaimed that none despite her marriage as a petty noble family of Poland, Mrs. Stopa modeled many of the statues for the world's fair at San Francisco, and has a reputation as a moulder of vote.

Glascow, known to many as "Count Glaskoff," also is a member of a Russian family.

ROUGH GOING FOR THE BALLOONISTS

Kansas City, Mo., April 25—(United Press)—Rough going was encountered during the night by four balloonists remaining in the National Elimination contest which started from San Antonio late Wednesday.

The huge bags floated over Kansas City and vicinity at dusk last night, driven northeastward by good breezes. Stormy weather was encountered as they passed around the region of the Great Lakes. The sky was overcast with occasional showers and electrical storms and the wind shifty and uncertain.

The pilots should be over the regions of the Great Lakes this morning if they remained aloft during the night.

In passing over Kansas City, the balloons were making about 330 miles an hour. A note was dropped by Captain H. H. Honeywell piloting the Kansas City Cooperative Club's entry. He said he had dropped from an altitude of 12,000 feet to 1,500 feet after encountering a snowstorm and a twisting wind.

"We are all going strong," he said.

The other three entries were also sighted during the evening within a 100-miles radius of Kansas City.

Three forced out of the race were Army balloons Number 2, piloted by Captain E. W. Hill, down at Moline Kansas, as a result of an electrical storm; Number 3, piloted by Lieut. E. C. McKinley, down at Wapanuck, Okla., in a storm with the bag wrecked; H. B. Fournier, San Antonio down at Kaw City, Okla., in a storm with the bag wrecked.

Senate Democrats Say That With the Progressive Aid the Adoption of Their Tax Reduction Schedule Is Assured Today

MAY RUSH BILL THROUGH

Indications Are Two or Three Democrats Are Breaking Away And May Swing Over To Republicans, For Mellon Rates

Washington, April 25—Senate Democrats claimed enough Progressive votes today to assure adoption of their tax reduction schedule.

At the same time indications were given that two or three Democrats may break away from the party and might swing over to the Republican for the Mellon rates. The break on the Democratic side will not be sufficient, however, to interfere with minority plans in the voting, leaders feel.

Indications now are that the bill may be rushed through in short order—probably within three weeks.

Chairman Reed Smoot, of the finance committee, called for sessions beginning an hour earlier than usual and announced he would demand night sessions if any storm of debate should threaten delay.

Oldest U. S. Library

The Philadelphia Library, located at South Juniper and Locust streets, Branch at Broad street, is the oldest library in the United States. It was founded in 1731 by 70 members who subscribed 160 pounds for the purchase of books and further agreed to pay each 10 shillings annually during 50 years for the same purpose. The library was sponsored by Benjamin Franklin, being his "First project of a public nature."

DOPE ADDICTS.

It is claimed that William Burns, the unfortunate young man of Uniontown, who is suffering from the effects of heroin, said at the hearing before Squire Paul R. Nutt, that he was a member of a basket ball team in the Mountain City, and that other young men of the aggregation were addicted to the use of heroin, as well as himself, which is regrettable, if true.

We understand that Burns comes of a good family; at any rate his plight is to be deplored. As is that of any person who is addicted to the use of narcotics.

It is not believed that Charleroi has youths addicted to heroin, or other dope which destroys the bodily functions and the intellect, but if perchance there should be, Burns' sad case should prove a warning to them. The moral effect should come to those, if any, who are addicted in any way to intemperate methods, inasmuch as the country needs the flower of her sterling young manhood, and they should know and be impressed with the fact that good habits, and the maintenance of upright character, are among the best assets for success that a young man should have.

According to official announcement this country is 135 billion dollars richer than it was before the war, and individually each American is worth $2,918, an increase from 1912 of $1,950. Similar figures for eight leading nations convey the impression that the world's greatest increase in wealth was made largely during the most destructive war on record. There is nothing burdensome about our wealth however, except perhaps in the smaller circles wherein so much of it is concentrated. One reason why most of us fail to realize how very rich we are is to be found in the fact the dollar of 1912 now has a purchasing power but little over 60 cents.

The Springfield (Mass) Republican is convinced that Mr. Coolidge "can not get too far away in the public mind from the crooks and near-crooks that happen to infest his party." To stop investigating them would prevent, rather than forward such desired progress on the part of the Executive.

The mix-up at Washington includes the crossing of party lines in the search for authorities. Again President Coolidge, a Republican, has quoted President Cleveland, a Democrat, and in reply Senator Walsh, a Democrat, cited the opinion of Senator Edmunds, a Republican.

The longest cable dispatch ever sent carried the 40,000 words of the Dawes report, which covered five pages of the New York Times. As the committee charged nothing for it, the report was not the most expensive, though by far the longest, of cable dispatches.

It might be well at times to give some of America's moral support to America.

Certain Charleroi men are wearing mustaches since their wives bobbed their hair. A group of young business men in a certain Pennsylvania town have formed a moustache club to "get back" at their wives for having their hair bobbed. Articles of incorporation provide for a fine of a new hat for Easter one of other members to be imposed on any member who yields to the pleas of his better half and shaves off his hirsute adornment.

Throwing of an Old Shoe.

The throwing of an old shoe after a bridal couple is regarded by most authorities as the survival of a very ancient custom connected with the transfer of property, says London Tit-Bits. Among certain races women were regarded as a species of property, and in some ancient civilizations, that of the Jews especially, the removal and giving of the shoe or sandal confirmed an exchange or sale—a custom asserted to have been derived from the Egyptians. A superstition with regard to the worn shoe was very widespread and existed even among the barbarous races. Some have even tried to ascribe it to the time when the bridegroom carried off the bride by force and the bride's family threw things after him as he decamped. In old Saxon marriages the bride's father handed the bridegroom the bride's shoe, and he touched her with it on the forehead in token of authority.

Origin of Honeymoon.

The origin of the word honeymoon is disputed. The old theory was that it refers to the practice of the ancient Teutons who drank "hydromel," a drink made of honey, for a month, or "moon," after marriage. There is an old story that Atilla the Hun indulged so freely in hydromel at his wedding feast that he died. Thus the month after marriage when people drank honey wine was called "honeymoon." But modern philologists frown on this derivation. They say originally the word had no reference to "month" at all, but referred only to the ever-changing character of the moon. At any rate, honeymoon now refers to the period immediately after marriage, especially that part spent away from home, when everything is supposed to be as sweet as honey.—Pathfinder.

Prince Rupert's Drops.

The name, Prince Rupert's Drops, is given to tadpole-shaped pieces of glass, formed by melting the glass and allowing it to drop into cold water. If the point of the tail to one of these be broken off, the whole will at once shiver to pieces with a loud report. Owing to the sudden cooling, the particles have not had sufficient time to arrange themselves in a stable manner, and hence they fly asunder as soon as the structure is broken. These curious drops are commonly supposed to have been discovered by Prince Rupert, the grandson of James I of England; but Faraday says that they were simply brought by him into England in 1660.

A Misuse of Talent.

"Some of the smartest men I have ever known," says a great merchant, "were criminals. But I have never known a dishonest man who could not have been much more successful if on the square. There is more honesty in business than there is in other things.

"Big business requires team work on a gigantic scale. Even a dishonest business man wouldn't want a dishonest cashier, or a dishonest clerk, or a dishonest secretary, would he? Crooks have to work in squads of one or two—at any rate, in such small squads that they can always watch each other."—Fred Kelly in the Nation's Business.

Verse the Proof.

Verse is the final proof to the poet that his mastery over his art is complete. It is the shutting up of his powers in "measureful content"; the answer of form to his spirit; of strength and ease to his guidance. . . . Poetry, in its complete sympathy with beauty, must of necessity leave no sense of the beautiful, and no power over its forms, unmanifested; and verse flows as inevitably from this condition of its integrity as other laws of proportion do from any other kind of embodiment of beauty.—Leigh Hunt.

Fish Require Vitamins.

Fish need vitamins no less than do men. Recent experiments have shown that fish fed on a diet free or nearly free of these substances showed an exceptionally high mortality as compared with similar fish given a diet in which vitamins were abundant. Lack of vitamins, however, did not seem to interfere with the growth of the fish as a similar lack does with the growth of animals; but the fish developed severe nervous symptoms, ending in fits, which resulted in their death from exhaustion.

Mercator's Projection.

Mercator's Projection is a map of the world devised by Gerard Kauffmann, whose surname, Latinized was Mercator (The Merchant). It is a cylindrical projection in which all the meridians are straight lines perpendicular to the equator, and all the parallels are straight lines parallel to the equator. As a result, the shapes of countries are greatly distorted, and the polar regions, especially, immensely exaggerated. Mercator's Projection was published in 1556 and applied to navigation about 1599.

Ouch!

Dining out one night during his recent visit to London, Paderewski met a young society man who had won for himself a great reputation for his skill at polo. Being praised by the pianist for his clever playing, he said it was different, indeed, from Paderewski's performances. "Yes," agreed Paderewski, "the difference between us is perfectly clear. You are a dear soul who plays polo, whilst I am a poor Pole who plays solo."

From time out of mind the criminal classes have been instinctively opposed to investigations. Strange to say, a similar state of mind has recently been noticeable among respectable and even distinguished persons.

Apple of Discord.

The Apple of Discord was a golden fruit bearing the inscription "for the fairest," which was thrown by Eris (or Discord) into the midst of the company at the marriage of Peleus and Thetis. The prize was claimed by Juno, Minerva and Venus, and was awarded to Venus by Paris, who was called in to make the award. The decision brought about the Trojan war.

New Yorkers Like Cheese.

More than 50,000,000 pounds of cheese were received in New York last year, according to a report on the butter and cheese markets recently completed by Charles F. Junod, vice president of the Bank of America. New York's cheese bill, it was estimated, was $10,770,462.52.

An English scientist says that ships traveling east grow lighter because they are going in the same direction as the earth is revolving. An ocean liner weighs five tons less on its journey from America to England than on its return trip.

Chicago's largest electric sign contains 3,152 lights and is used to advertise a large loop department store. The number of electric signs throughout the United States is estimated at 250,000. More than 15,000,000 electric lamps are needed to illuminate them.

The first railway in England was begun in 1825; in Austria and in France in 1828; in the United States in 1829; Belgium and Germany, 1835; Russia, 1838, and Italy in 1839.

Good Comparison.

When we see a man who can't accommodate himself to other people's points of view, we think of the farmer who wouldn't build a storm-cellar because he didn't approve of cyclones.

The Poor Relative.

A poor relative is like the old family dog—kick him out of one place and he immediately crawls into another.

Keeping Wolves Away.

Women of India paint curious designs on the ground before their homes to keep evil spirits from harming their children.

A Lover of Flowers.

"I just love fall flowers," gushed Miss Bluebelle, "particularly the hankypank and the what's-it's-name."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Clay Pipes and Cancer.

The old short clay pipe is disappearing and cancer of the lips has greatly decreased in Great Britain, according to a famous surgeon.

Never Ridiculed.

I have lived one hundred years; and I die with the consolation of never having thrown the slightest ridicule upon the smallest virtue.—Fontenelle.

Most Sure To.

When a man goes down in the financial sea he is apt to leave a lot of wreckage floating around.

Isn't It Awful?

After life's first thirty years so much of the moonlight has to be allowed to go to waste. It's awful.

At Least Once.

Every married woman gives her husband credit for possessing good judgment at least once in his life.

The Sure-Thing Game.

But the average man isn't half as anxious to bet on a sure thing as those behind the game are to have him.

It's a Fact.

It's easier to make enemies than friends, but it is easier to get rid of friends than it is to get rid of enemies.

When We Kill Time.

When people kill time, it is the 1,000,000 years past and the 1,000,000 years to come that they're thinking of.

City of Canals.

There are 127 canals in the city of Venice. They measure 28 miles. There are five openings in the 30-foot masonry wall, which admit the tide. The Grand canal is two miles long and 77 yards wide. It was probably at one time the bed of a river flowing into the lagoon near Mestre. Another canal divides the island of Guidecca from the rest of the city. It was once the bed of the Brenta. The smaller canals serve as arteries to the Grand canal.

Abuse of Stomach.

"The stomach is maltreated by the majority of men, who disregard the laws of digestion and seemingly forget their stomachs have no teeth. As a result, the organ is subject not only to indigestion and its accompanying disturbance, but to several disorders which are all serious and some fatal."—R. R. Daniels, M. D.

"Empress of France," the Prince of Wales' Favorite Ship, And Next Year's Globe Girdler, Has Interesting History

"EMPRESS OF FRANCE"

PRINCE OF WALES SAYS "GOOD BYE" TO CAPT. E. GRIFFITHS, R.N.R.

A sailor thinks of a ship as a living thing and grooms her, guides her, loves her. Most ships bear names of the gentler sex, possibly because Jack is said to have a sweetheart in every port. Today one of the most interesting ships on the Atlantic is the "Empress of France," favorite liner of the Prince of Wales when he crosses the "Big Pond" to visit his ranch near High River, Alberta, in Western Canada. During the war she was an armed cruiser of the British Admiralty and was flagship of the Tenth Cruiser Squadron, carrying at different times an admiral, a vice admiral and a rear admiral. She mounted eight 6-inch cannon and two 12-pounder anti-aircraft guns, intercepted 15,000 ships and many times escorted convoys of from 14 to 22 ships carrying soldiers from the United States to and from the Great War. Since the war she has been thoroughly reconditioned twice and is now an oil burner and so modern that she has single bed-steads instead of berths in many of her rooms.

Next year the "Empress of France," leaving New York, Jan. 27, will for the second time completely encircle the world, steaming about 30,000 miles and returning to New York via the Panama Canal on June first. The "Empress" is not going after the record of Jules Verne's hero who went around the world in 80 days, nor that of Nelly Bly, about 72 days, nor even that of John H. Mears, 35 days, 21 hours and 36 minutes, in 1913. Instead, she will devote four months to a voyage during which the globe-girdlers aboard, will have time to see the peoples and principal countries of the world, visiting Madeira, Gibraltar, Algiers, Monaco, Naples, Haifa, (Palestine), Port Said, Suez, Bombay, Colombo, Singapore, Batavia, Manila, Hongkong, Shanghai, Kobe, Yokohama, Honolulu, Hilo, San Francisco, Balboa, Colon and Havana. During the winter and spring months of 1923 the "Empress of France" made a very successful around the world cruise and her officers and crew are thoroughly experienced in navigating the Seven Seas. While on war service she steamed 266,740 knots, and not even a professional humorist could make a joke about her coal bill as she burned 170,570 tons. Ouch! There will be no more coaling for her in future, now that she is an oil burner.

The Grocer's Encyclopedia says that according to the United States standards, bitter chocolate is a mass obtained by grinding cocoa nibs without the removal of any constituent except the gum. When this ground bean, in cocoa form, is sweetened and flavored it is known as sweet chocolate. Cocoa is the ground bean from which part of the oil or fat has been extracted. Cocoa cannot be made into chocolate.

What Is Electricity?

The exact nature of electricity is not known. The definition commonly accepted is: "A material agency which, when in motion, exhibits magnetic and thermal effects, and which, whether in motion or at rest, is of such nature that when it is present in two or more localities within certain limits of association, a mutual interaction of force between such localities is observed."

Rich Plains in Australia.

An adventurous Australian conducted a motor car expedition across Australia for more than 1,500 miles beyond the railway. Following dry river beds the party found lakes and water holes and rich alluvial plains where water can be obtained within a foot or so of the surface.

His Was the Last Word.

Candid Friend—"You told me you always had the last word with your wife, and all the time I've been here she's been ordering you about." Much-Married—"Well, I do have the last word. Didn't you hear me say 'All right?'"

American Institution.

The high school is distinctly an American institution. The English high school of Boston, founded in 1821, was the first of its kind and gradually, as free elementary schools were established throughout the country, the high schools followed.

Horn of Ripon.

Ripon, England, keeps up a custom 1,000 years old. Every night a "wake man," attired in official costume, appears before the mayor's house and blows three solemn notes on the "horn of Ripon."

Horn Beetles Strong.

The horn beetle easily lifts twenty times its own weight. Had humans [illegible] a young girl going home from her music lesson carrying a grand piano under her arm.

Marry Earlier In Country.

The country girl is able to put one over on her city cousin in at least one respect. According to statistics, the country and small-town girls marry at an earlier age on the average than do the girls who dwell in cities.

Advice to Young Men.

X-Rays Useful.

X-Rays have been put to many uses, including the preserving of furs against moths, testing chocolate made by machinery, and killing a microscopic insect which attacks cigars.

Earliest Inhabitants.

The aborigines are properly the earliest inhabitants of a country. The Romans and Greeks, however, applied the name to a mythical people who, according to tradition, had their original seats in the mountains about Reate, now Rieti.

Intolerance Is Deadly.

If you want your conscience to be the world's guide, is it because you love the world or merely want to boss it? Intolerance is one of the seven deadly sins—and the meanest.

Hearts and Diamonds.

In the game of love both hearts and diamonds rank high. But just because the girls wear their diamonds on their fingers is no reason why they should wear their hearts on their sleeves.

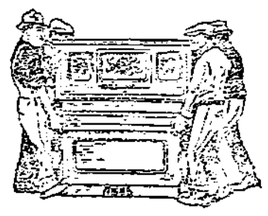
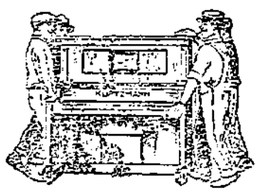
This is the Time to Change Pianos



TRADE IN YOUR OLD PIANO FOR THE LATEST KURTZMANN



SENTIMENT often keeps a piano in the home long after it has passed its age of usefulness. You can't help but commend the spirit that sticks to an old piano like an old friend, and yet it is a mistake to do so, for once you have a Kurtzmann you will love and cherish it even more than you have the piano it replaces. If your present piano could speak to you, you can be sure it would be proud to be replaced by a Kurtzmann.

Isn't it time you find out what a good deal can be made by exchanging your present piano for a Kurtzmann? It's just like turning in common stock for preferred. And the Kurtzmann is a preferred piano, both in critical musical circles and in those family firesides where the evensong compensates for the wearing toil of a busy day. There are no dull hours with a Kurtzmann. The wisdom of such an exchange of course is even more apparent if you do not happen to have the trained fingers to enjoy your present instrument. The Kurtzmann Player Piano stands apart from most players, because it is a masterful piano to begin with and has an equally masterful player action. You can demonstrate this to yourself if you will step in a moment and we have an "exchange" proposition you will be glad to know about.

Things to Worry About.

Canton, China, is surrounded by walls of brick and sandstone, twenty-five to forty feet high and twenty feet thick.

Its Death Was Fatal.

Boy (to stranded motorist)—"How did you get the puncture?" Autoist—"Ran over a chicken with pin feathers on it."

Bald Head Tattooed.

Tattooing in red and blue entirely covered the bald head of a man who appeared in a London police court recently.

Appearances Deceive.

Never be too sure of appearances. That sad, gloomy fellow against you in the street car may be a professional humorist.

As a Rule She Is.

After making a strenuous effort to marry the man of her choice a woman is apt to be badly disappointed if she succeeds.

Shocking.

Barr—"I hear that Martin is a prude." Carr—"I'll say he is. Why, he won't even look through the women's advertising pages of magazines."

Just So.

Children capable of producing bright sayings would be a great help to a tired humorist.

Where the Difference Lies.

Yes, Martha, a pretty woman is like a jewel, but if you get tired of the jewel you can either hock it or sell it.

Pep and Ambition.

Pep is something that is likely to pester those associated with the man who has it, while ambition inspires only its possessor.

In Society's Realm

Approximately 100 couples attended the first dance of the Spring season given by the Emanon club last night in the Italian hall. The orchestra, The Golden Gate Eight were at their best and the hall was prettily decorated in the colors, blue and orange. The affair was in the form of a novelty dance and every one present spent a very happy evening.

With 10 members present the Industrious Sewing Circle was entertained at the home of Mrs. R. O. Vetter of Fallowfield avenue in their regular bi-monthly meeting last night. At the close of the business session, at which time it was decided to hold the next meeting at the home of Mrs. O. C. Baker of Oneida street, Monessen, the members took up their sewing and fancy work. At a late hour the hostess ushered her guests into the dining room, where a delicious luncheon was served.

The Pollyanna society of Christ Lutheran church met in the Sunday School room last evening, entertained members were taken into the organization, Miss Edna Acker and Mrs. Ruth Coates. Following the short business session, a social hour was enjoyed, which was made more interesting by a visit and talk by the Rev. C. B. King. The hostess assisted by Mrs. Charlotte Anthony served a dainty luncheon. After partaking of the luncheon, the members adjourned to meet again at the home of Mrs. Charlotte Anthony of Sixth street, Thursday, May 8.

Mrs. John J. Moussiaux delightfully entertained the members of the Friendship Club at her home in Lookout avenue last evening. Twelve members of the club were present and spent a very pleasant evening in cards and social converse. Euchre was the main diversion of the evening, favors being awarded Mrs. R. O. Ligon, Mrs. Hannah Hurley, Mrs. George Rigby and Mrs. Anderson. After the serving of a delicious luncheon by the hostess with the assistance of Mrs. Arthur Mouyard and Mrs. M. Flori, the meeting adjourned. The next regular meeting of the club will be held next Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. G. Rigby, McKean avenue.

Remarkable Island.

One of the most remarkable islands in the world is Patmos, where St. John wrote the Book of Revelation. It was always the destination of thousands of pilgrims, and in the old days the rich man who wished to expiate his sins usually did so by building a church. The result is that this tiny island contains the ruins of no fewer than 300 churches.

A Rare Amulet.

A jade amulet discovered at the San Juan de Teothuacan pyramids, near Mexico City, had the following engraved Chinese inscription: "The golden fish that passes by the Dragon's gate is converted into a dragon." The Chinese legation readily interpreted the inscription, which is a quotation from a very old Chinese lyric.

Change Their Coats.

In cold countries where snow prevails during a long winter many animals change the hue of their coats to a white tint. The case of the weasel is especially curious; it retains its brown coat until the first snow appears, and then whitens in a few hours.

Clinton's "Folly."

The Erie canal has been known both as Clinton's Ditch and Clinton's Folly. The reference is to Governor Clinton's interest in the promotion of the Erie canal project. The canal became a political question and on this issue Clinton was elected governor in 1817.

It Can Be Attained.

To conquer our inclinations, to curb our angry feelings, to be moderate in the hour of victory; these exactions are of such a nature that he who does them can be compared with God himself.

Marriage Age in Turkey.

Under the Turkish law there is no minimum age fixed for the marriage of girls. Any miss who can "walk properly and can understand the necessary religious service" is permitted to become a wife.

They Have Their Place in Life.

The Difference.

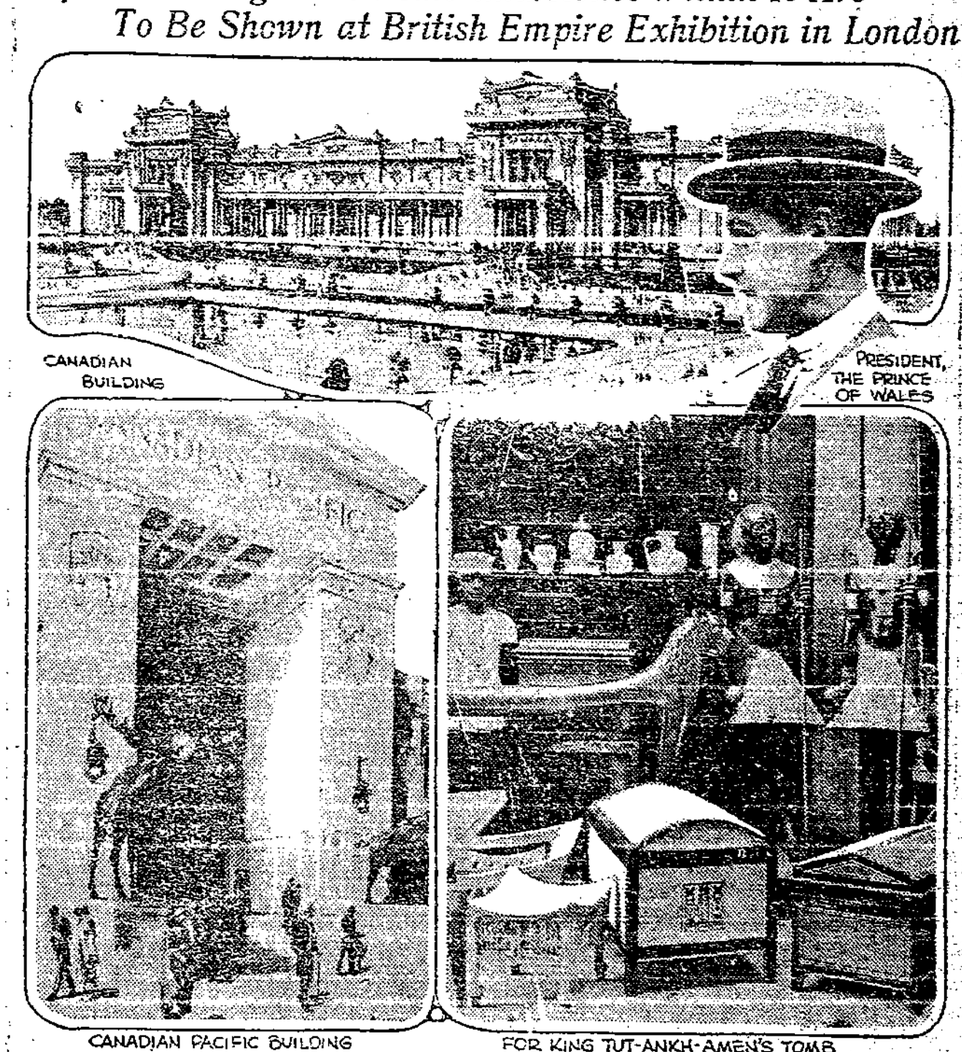
Replica of King Tut's Tomb and Relics Within It Are To Be Shown at British Empire Exhibition in London



CANADIAN PACIFIC BUILDING FOR KING TUT-ANKH-AMEN'S TOMB

Untold millions of people have wished that they could see the tomb of Tut-ankh-Amen in the Valley of the Kings, Egypt, and all the wonderful relics of an early civilization shrouded in the mists of antiquity. Owing to the distance involved and the dispute between the discoverers and the Egyptian government, this is not an easy accomplishment, but the British Empire Exposition which opens in London April 23 and of which the Prince of Wales is president, has built an exact reproduction of the tomb and the [illegible] therein. Thousands of dollars worth of gold has been beaten for the gilding of many of these treasures which are about thirty centuries old. The Exposition will remain open until October.

The Canadian Government and the Canadian Pacific Railway will both have large and interesting [illegible] exhibits, and thousands of people in the United States, born in one part or another of the British Empire, are planning to sail from Montreal, Quebec or New York to see this wonderful $200,000,000 exposition. Many Americans, too, are interested. During the exposition the American Bar Association and other organizations in the United States will hold their annual conventions in London and enjoy what the British say will be the world's greatest exposition to date. As the United States has a builder, the average citizen will be curious to see what the British Empire can do when it gets together to put on a show. According to Richmond Temple, an exposition official, the Midway will be five times as large as any Midway heretofore, the Machinery [illegible] will be five times as big as Madison Square Garden, and the Stadium, which will seat 200,000, will be twice the size of the Coliseum, Rome.

The Canadian Pacific Pavilion is grouped with the Canadian Government Building with which it harmonizes and at the entrance are an enormous bronze moose and buffalo. In both buildings visitors will find displayed examples of all Canadian natural and manufactured products and impressive agricultural exhibits showing the sources and opportunities of the [illegible]

South Africa alone will spend $1,000,000 on its display, and India, Burma, Australia, New Zealand, Malta, the Gold Coast, Samoa, Fiji, China and New Guinea will all be represented by interesting exhibits, both human and inanimate.

Brownsville Man Recovers From Serious Illness

E. C. Reasey, Well-Known Fraternal Order and Railroad Man, Sick for Twelve Years, Makes Complete Recovery

Mr. E. C. Reasey, popular fraternal order and railroad man, is receiving congratulations of his friends upon his restoration to health after an illness of nearly twelve years, following an operation for peritonitis.

Mr. Reasey has some very definite ideas as to what has caused his remarkable recovery, and says that he welcomes this opportunity to tell the public the facts in the case. He had been in mighty bad shape for years. Nothing that he ate agreed with him. Every full meal was followed by nervous headaches caused by a disordered stomach. He was forced to the daily use of pills and cathartics.

But read what he has to say:

"I have tried all kinds of medicines but nothing seemed to do me any good until I used Sulac. The first bottle helped me and so far I have taken four bottles and am on my fifth. I am glad of this opportunity to tell my friends, and in fact everybody, that Sulac has not only stopped my trouble, but has given me an appetite I can hardly satisfy. And the best of it is that I have gained fifteen pounds. My color is fine; and when I get through eating I feel great. I have my old pep back and when it comes to work I'll step right out with any of them. I feel great all the time. I will be glad to verify this if anyone wants to write me at the Y. M. C. A., Brownsville."

Mr. Reasey is the kind of man whose word carries weight. He belongs to K. of P. No 60 Cumberland, Md., I. O. O. F. No 55 Cumberland; Jr. O. U. A. M., Altoona; Loyal Order of Moose, No 74, Altoona. If you are suffering from any form of stomach trouble, are bilious, have chronic constipation, are in distress after eating go to your druggist and get a bottle of the remedy that did so much for him. It is sold under a positive guarantee. If you take six bottles and are not satisfied with the results your druggist is authorized by the manufacturers to refund your money. Sulac is sold in Charleroi by Hennings' Drug Store.

GET AT THE CAUSE!

Many Charleroi Folks Are Showing How to Avoid Needless Suffering.

There's nothing more exasperating than kidney weakness or inability to properly control the kidney secretions. Night and day alike, the sufferer is tormented and distressed with the nagging and scalding of the urine, backache, headache and dizziness, life is indeed a burden. Doan's Pills—a stimulating diuretic to the kidneys—have brought peace and comfort to many Charleroi people. Profit by this Charleroi resident's experience.

Geo. Gunderman, 308 Washington Ave., says: "I had an attack of kidney disorder and my back was lame and sore. When I bent, sharp pains darted through me. My kidneys acted irregularly. After sitting I could hardly get up. My muscles were stiff and sore mornings and my back was lame and weak. Doan's Pills from Pyper's Pharmacy cured me completely and I have not been troubled since."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Pills — the same that Mr. Gunderman had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Keep Old Lantern Festival.

In Florence there still survives, on the evening of September 7, some trace of the ancient festival of the lanterns. This fete is entirely peculiar to Florence and the near neighborhood, and the lanterns with which it is traditionally celebrated are also a local specialty and are produced not in factories but by the people themselves. Tissue paper of various colors is employed, same the Dotesti Mary, which is stretched on strips of card or thin wood and so bent that the lantern takes the shape of a basket, globe, boat, bell or any other form desired. The different sides or quarters are cut from different colored papers and the whole is trimmed round the edges and angles with long bamboo strips, also gayly tricked out with twisted fringes of cut paper.

The Devil's Tower.

The Devil's Tower is a huge mass of volcanic rock in the eastern part of Wyoming, near Moorcraft. It rises 1,200 feet above the plain and is visible for a hundred miles in that cloudless region. It was used as a guiding mark by the aborigines of the plains and mountains. Pathfinders of the French colonies in Canada used it as a landmark and later military expeditions in the Sioux and Crow Indian country during the Indian wars directed their march by it. So great was the popular interest in the Devil's Tower that the United States government in 1906 pronounced it a national monument and placed it under the direction of the national park service.

Fox Trot's Name From Horse.

The fox trot, which has apparently come to stay in dancing, takes its name from the similarity of its movements to the peculiar step of the American trotting horse when it is [illegible] and not to the resemblance to a fox's movements. The rhythm of the fox trot is found in its rhythm of course and this is one of the characteristics of a trotting horse when he is making good time, though when a trotter is just jogging along there isn't so much rhythm in evidence.

Origin of Do, Re, Mi, Fa.

In the Eleventh century the church fathers invented a system of singing. This was applied to an old Latin hymn, the syllable of each line of which commenced on a tone a step higher than the foregoing one, and from this we have derived the system of sol-fa singing used today. The hymn was "Ut Queant Laxis" (ut later changed to do). Resonare fibris, re; Mira gestorum, mi; Famuli, fa; Solve polluti, sol; Labii reatum, la; Sancte Joannes, si, later changed by some to ti.

Some Comeback.

Leonard Bacon, who was one of the best known theologians in New England a half century ago, was attending a conference in one of the New England cities and some assertions he made in his address were vehemently objected to by a member of the opposition. "Why," he exclaimed, "I never heard of such a thing in all my life!" "Mr. Moderator," replied Bacon calmly, "I cannot allow my opponent's ignorance, however vast, to offset my knowledge, however small."

Microorganisms.

The ubiquity of the common microorganisms, whether in the torrid zones or in the icy north, is phenomenal. Samples collected by explorers contain many familiar species of bacteria. In preserved untouched soils and in the contents of the intestines of Arctic animals is found a motley group of bacteria, yeasts and molds, most of them familiar to us of the more contaminated zones. There is no escape from bacteria.

Liberians Pawn Children.

Sons and daughters are frequently pawned in Liberia when the head of the family is in need of money, and seldom are they redeemed. Girls are highly valued by the natives in the interior of Liberia, because the parents receive a dowry from the husband when a daughter marries, and even after the wedding they can, at any time demand more from the husband. Fourteen years is the age at which many of the girls marry.

Mahogany.

The forest service says that over sixty different species of timber have been put on the market as mahogany. The woods now commonly sold under the name are true mahogany from tropical America, "African mahogany" and "Philippine mahogany." Birch and red gum are usually acknowledged as imitations of the wood, although they are sometimes used in furniture sold as genuine mahogany.

Aluminum Alloy Coating

In the protective process called "calorizing," articles of iron and other metals are cleaned, placed in an air-tight retort partly filled with finely divided metallic aluminum and aluminum oxide and kept at a high temperature for several hours. A current of hydrogen is passed through the retort. The metal's surface becomes coated with aluminum alloy.

Moses and the Bulrushes.

Opposite Cairo lies the island of Roda where, according to Arab tradition, Pharaoh's daughter found Moses in the bulrushes. At the southern extremity of this island is the nilometer, by which the rise of the Nile has been measured by the Cairenes for 1,000 [illegible] tagonal pillar marked by cubits in the center.

The Common Taste.

If a poet is in touch with his age, he will write of the subjects that interest him, and other poets in touch with the age will also write about what interests them, and consequently they may all write of much the same thing; they are not imitating each other, but they are enjoying a common pleasure, to which one of them may have shown the way. We often say that the popular writer is trying to catch the favor of the public by giving it what it likes, and in some instances he may be calculating and his motives unworthy. But it is more probable that being typical of his age, he simply likes the same things as his fellows. The Elizabethan Londoner liked historical plays; did Shakespeare write them only to please his audience, or rather did he not share the general taste?—John Erskine.

Cause of Earthquakes.

The usual cause of earthquakes is dislocation of the crust of the earth along fracture lines. There is a fracture line along the coast of Japan and another along the coast of California. The crust of the earth is constantly in motion, up or down, sidewise or twisting. Millions of years may pass before bringing a strain so severe that the strata will slip or crumble along any great fault in the earth's crust, but when that slip comes there is an earthquake. Usually it is only a fraction of an inch, or a few [illegible] a slip of forty feet was once recorded, and the quake was felt all over the world.

Court of St. James.

The name Court of St. James is derived from the palace of St. James which fronts on Pall Mall, London. The palace was originally a [illegible] dedicated to St. James. It was reconstructed and made into a manor by Henry VIII, who connected it through a park with Whitehall, which was then the royal palace. St. James palace was the royal residence and seat of British government from William III to Victoria. In 1837 the royal residence was transferred to Buckingham palace, but many offices are still located in the old palace, and its name is still closely associated with the British government.

A Treasure of the Earth

"It matters not on what plane of life one labors nor how large or small the number of his acquaintances, the man who tells, and yet knows that in the circle of his influence there is at least one life in which there is sunshine where but for him, there would have been shadow; that there is at least one home in which there is cheer where but for him, there would have been gloom; that there is at least one heart in which there is hope where but for him there would have been despair—that man carries with him as he goes, one of the richest treasures on this earth."

Perfume in White Flowers.

Of 6,600 species of cultivated flowers in Europe, 3,880 are stated to have an offensive odor, 2,300 have no perceptible smell, and only 420 emit a pleasing fragrance. The most numerous of the perfumed kinds are those having white or cream colored flowers. These are followed in order by those with yellow, red, blue and violet flowers, only 13 out of 308 of the last-named having been found to possess an odor at all agreeable.

Forged Certificates.

The forging of Uruguayan naturalization certificates to enable Europeans to enter the United States as Uruguayans has been exposed. The Uruguayan law requires a residence of five years before citizenship papers are granted an immigrant. Certificates were obtained in great numbers by false declarations of witnesses who apparently were members of a strong organization which has ramifications in Argentina and Brazil.

Why Name Was Changed.

The city of Cleveland was named for Moses Cleaveland, leading shareholder of the Connecticut Land company, who founded the first settlement on the site of the present city. The spelling of the name was changed in 1830, when the Cleveland Advertiser was established and the editor dropped the "a" in the first syllable in order to get the headline into the form.

Inventor of Limericks.

Edward Lear is sometimes named as the originator of the limerick. While tutor in the family of the earl of Derby, about 1834, he wrote his first nonsense book for the entertainment of the earl's youngest son. The word limerick is said to be the name of a song current in Ireland, the refrain of which song contains the place name "Limerick."

South American Languages

Spanish is spoken in all South American countries except Brazil, so it may be said to be more widely spoken than Portuguese, the tongue of the Brazilians. Brazil, however, has a population equal to that of the rest of the continent and Portuguese is spoken by as many South Americans as Spanish is.

Wild Dogs Do Not Bark.

Wild dogs do not bark. Some of them have curious little cries, but the bark is a development of the canine in captivity. The wild dog usually runs in packs like the wolf. As a rule wild dogs also hold their tail and ears erect, but are unpleasant creatures when compared to the domesticated canines.

Hiram Johnson must now be dreaming of third party leadership. Otherwise he would hardly be ready to go as far as to say publicly that "crooks dominate the Republican party."

Learned Astronomy by Making Own Telescopes

How a group of mechanics, living in Springfield, Vt., learned the science os astronomy by making their own telescopes at home, is related in Popular Astronomy by Russell W. Porter. Several of these machinists had their own small workshops, located usually in the cellars of their homes.

"Interest did not stop with the completion of the telescopes," says Mr. Porter. "The telescope makers found an old station on Hawks mountain, just outside of the township, occupied years ago in the government triangulation of New England. They camped on the mountain, built a substantial tower and signal over the station.

"On another occasion they spent the night on the summit of Mount Ephraim, the highest point in the township. This gathering, I believe, is unique in the annals of astronomy.

"Throughout that night, from the appearance of the first star until dawn, these men were exploring the heavens. It proved to be good seeing notwithstanding a stiff wind. The light from a roaring campfire revealed a circle of animated faces listening intently to some celestial fact just brought out at the eye-piece of one of the instruments."

How Natives of Papua Prepare Heads of Foes

In a recent issue of Man, Mr. E. B. Riley gives an account of the method of preparing the heads of enemies practiced at the village of Dorro in Papua. After the flesh and brains are removed a piece of rattan cane is fixed to the bottom of the mummified skull to take the place of the lower jaw and to act as a support for the packing of the neck. It was difficult to ascertain why the lower jaw is not replaced. The explanation seems to be that they prefer to hang this up in the house, and keep it as a mark or token of the owner's prowess in war, after the mummified head has decayed; but the lower jaw is sometimes replaced, being tied to the zygomas, as with the rattan cane. Finally, the head is dried, being fixed on a wooden framework over a fire lighted for that purpose, and the hair is pulled out as decomposition of the skin advances.

Red Light Traps Insects

A means for combating the winged insect pests of tropical regions has been evolved, by means of which the flying bugs are lured into a deadly bath of acid and either drowned or asphyxiated by the fumes.

It was found that red light served as an almost irresistible lure for the night-flyers.

A red electric bulb, or a lantern with a red globe, is placed near the vessel containing the acid solution. As the pests fly to the light the fumes destroy them even though they may not actually fall into the bath.

To protect human beings from possible accidental contact with the acid bath, the liquid is placed in a wide-mouthed bottle, to which is attached a funnel with a very broad flaring cone. The light is suspended directly over this funnel, and the insects, stupefied by the acid fumes, fall into it and so into the acid bath.—New York World.

Huge Crane Scale

Practically every day industrial progress develops a new use for a weighing device or scale particularly adapted to meet specific requirements. A new scale was developed for the United States government for the purpose of measuring the pull on cables used to hold an airship at its moorings and this scale was immediately adapted for the measuring of unusual, heavy loads on cranes or booms where weights or loads up to 10,000 pounds are handled, assuring that the safe working load is not exceeded, and thus eliminating dangerous overloading and disastrous accidents. The scale is of steel construction. Its accurate action depends upon four extremely heavy springs. The dial is 15 inches in diameter.—Scientific American.

For Squeaks

"I would I were a bird!" wailed the fair girl at the piano.

"I would you were a box of axle grease," hissed the dark man under the palm.

"I wonder what he means by that?" asked the lemon-haired maiden.

"He means that axle grease stops screeching," whispered the man in the black suspenders.

Oldest Jewish Church in U. S.

Touro park, in Newport, R. I., was named for Judah Touro, an eccentric, great-hearted Jew, who left the town $10,000 for its purchase in 1854. Near by is a little Jewish cemetery, which is one of the ornaments of the city and not far away, in Touro street, one is brought to the synagogue of the oldest Jewish congregation in America, says the Detroit News. The congregation of Salvation of Israel was organized in 1680. The synagogue was built in 1763. One of the scrolls of the law deposited in the synagogue and now more than 400 years old, was brought from Europe by the Jews who reached Rhode Island in 1658. When the British troops occupied Newport, the Jews, ardent supporters of the American cause, were forced to flee. The synagogue was closed and for almost a century it was deserted.

Philanthropy Misapplied.

"Now, that is one of the most pathetic things I have ever seen," said the rich and benevolent old man, who, on a scorching hot day, stood with a friend, watching a typical street Arab. "You see the ice cart has been delivering at that shop, and the poor little chap has taken a piece from the gutter. Now, you and I, who can get refreshing drink whenever we require it, cannot imagine what a luxury that little fellow, here's a dime. Get yourself a glass of lemonade. You must not eat that stuff. It would make you ill." "I wasn't going to eat it," said the grimy little chap. "Faver's having a sleep at home, an 'I was goin' to drop it down his back!"

College Gets Rare Manuscript.

"The Beehive,' a monumental manuscript written by Francis Daniel Pastorius, founder of Germantown, has been loaned to the University of Pennsylvania by his descendants," says the Philadelphia North American. "The book, which consists of about 1,000 closely-written pages, was written, according to Pastorius, as a legacy to his son and to rest his mind of many facts that are in it. It was never printed. The volume is written in several different languages, including Latin, Greek, German and English. It contains much dry humor mixed with philosophy."

Lost in the Fog.

Children lost in London fogs have furnished the basis for many a story. Temporary separation from home and friends is, however, merely one of the minor tragedies shrouded in the murk, health statisticians have found. Recently it was discovered that the death rate from bronchitis and pneumonia increased sharply during the week following extra heavy fogs. Large quantities of unburnt coal from chimneys of factories and private residences, held in the atmosphere by the fog, are blamed for lowering the individual resistance to the disease germs, and so boosting the death rate.

The Bissextile Year.

The bissextile year, which is commonly known as leap year, has 366 days or one more day than the ordinary year. The origin of the name leap year is unknown, but it probably arose from the fact that any date in a leap year after the added day of February 29 "leaps" over the day of the week on which it would fall in ordinary years. For example: If March 1 falls on Monday in one year, it will fall on Tuesday in the next, if that is an ordinary year of 365 days, but on Wednesday if it is leap year.

Origin of Halloween.

Halloween is the popular name given to the festival of All Saints, celebrated October 31, as the eve of November 1. The Greek church as early as the Fourth century kept a feast of all martyrs and saints on the first Sunday of Pentecost. The object of this day was, in its inception, probably to do honor in bulk to all the lesser saints who could not have a feast specially set apart for them as well as to all holy men and martyrs whose record has not survived.

Dare-Devil.

In 1757 John Childs climbed to the top of a high steeple in Boston and jumped off, alighting safely 700 feet away. He was one of the pioneer aviators, demonstrating a sort of parachute contraption. Boston recently honored him with a bronze tablet or scientific billboard. It takes generations to develop a revolutionary new device like the airplane. You should remember John Childs and other pioneers when you buy your flying flivver—15 years from now?

Ingenious Band Saw.

There is in use an ingenious sort of band saw for coarse work, such as felling trees and sawing stove wood. The saw, instead of being a continuous ribbonlike blade, is made up of links, like those of the driving chain of a bicycle. On their outer side they have teeth of extremely hard steel. The endless chain is supported on four ball-bearing sprocket wheels mounted in a light metal frame. A 5-horse power gasoline motor drives it.

Parrots and Eagles Long Lived.

The wren is a short-lived bird, compared with others of its species, its average span of life being but three years. The sparrow is a veteran beside the wren, and often lives for 40 years. But there are other birds which attain much greater ages. Parrots, for instance, often become centenarians, while eagles have been known to pass the century mark. The swan, too, is a long liver, there being numerous instances on record of this bird having lived more than 150 years. Classical writers tell of ravens which lived 240 years, but even these birds may be said to have died young when compared with the 700-year-old rooks mentioned by Pliny in his writings.

Petroleum Spring.

The first reference to the discovery of petroleum in America is contained in a letter written in 1629 by Joseph de la Roche d'Allion, a French missionary to the Indians. He had crossed the Niagara river and made his way southward through western New York into northern Pennsylvania, where he found a spring from which oil flowed. This oil was highly esteemed by the Indians for medicinal uses. The letter of the priest was published in 1632 in Sagard's "History de Canada."

Plant Sex.

Only the higher forms of plant life, including the trees and flowering plants, have male and female differentiation. Many of the flowers are bisexual; that is, they carry both the female element or pistil and the male element or stamens. These are fertilized by insects that convey pollen from the stamens of one flower to the pistil of another. In growing corn, the tassel at the top of the plant is the male flower, while the young ears are the female flowers.

Jock's Painful Interview.

Young Jock had just returned from a painful interview with the minister, to whom he had said, in reply to a question, that there were 100 commandments. Upon meeting another lad on his way to the minister's he asked: "An' if he asks you how many commandments there are, what will ye say?" "Say?" queried the other lad. "Why, ten o' course." "Ten!" reiterated the first youth in scorn. "Ten? Ye wull try him wi' ten? I tried him wi' a hundred and he wasna satisfied."

"Cut of Her Jib."

An old Scotch pilot professed to be able to tell the home port of any incoming vessel within a reasonable distance by what seamen still call "the cut of her jib," meaning thereby her general appearance. To test his powers an onlooker called his attention to one in the far distance. The pilot gazed long and earnestly, and eventually pronounced her an Aberdeen boat. He proved to be right, and a chorus of surprised voices inquired how he knew. "No seagulls following her!" he said.

New Danger Signal.

One traction company in New Jersey, realizing the danger to the motoring public of level crossings, has evolved a sign system of warning at each crossing. Suspended across the road and directly above each crossing is a large board with several electric lights. This board bears the following message: "Danger! Lookout for locomotive! Stop when Lighted!" No light shows when the way is clear.

The Faubourg St. Germain.

The Faubourg St. Germain is an aristocratic quarter of Paris, situated on the left bank of the Seine. It was the residence before the French revolution of the old noblesse of France, many of whose stately mansions are still standing. At present it is the section of the city where the ministers, ambassadors and many of the ancient nobility have their homes. It adjoins the Quartier Latin on the east.

Dynamiting Mosquitoes.

Man has begun to use high explosives in his war against insects. Dynamite, which we usually think of in connection with the destruction of big things, is now being employed against little mosquitoes. It is used to blast these dangerous disease-carrying pests out of existence by digging ditches which drain the mosquito breeding grounds.

How Spiders Travel.

Many species of spiders migrate by "ballooning." The spider stands in an open place, with the body elevated, and projects from the spinnerets a line of silk which continues to issue until the spider feels the pull on it by the wind. It then releases its hold and clasping the line is borne away by the wind.

Poverty and Temperance.

No man can be brave who considers pain to be the greatest evil of life, nor temperate who considers pleasure to be the highest good.

The Still Small Voice.

Temptation has a still small voice like Conscience and they often hold a debate much to a man's inner disturbance.

Heeding Public Opinion.

Deference to public opinion is shown by the man who cares nothing for sports, but claims he likes one.
